I have been in Media marketing for 25+ years with knowledge in print, radio, cable TV and digital marketing in Western Indiana and Central Illinois. I enjoy helping clients maximize their return on investments by developing creative advertising campaigns.

My clients range from small family owned businesses to national accounts. The businesses range from unique boutiques to large corporations. Every client has a different outlook on how they want to portray their business and together we create a message that helps their business excel. I look forward to working with Terre Haute and Vigo County!
